As a volunteer nonprofit organization, the Berkeley Arts Council has flourished for more than eight years, because of the support and participation of our members and the community.

The 2018 calendar year will offer exhibits, events and classes. We hope to expand our activities with the creative ideas and support of our members.

Those who are paid members are invited to exhibit two pieces of their work in our now traditional members exhibit, January 17 to February 24, with no additional fee.
